

Óscar Méndez, commercial director of the pharmaceuticals division

Óscar Méndez López has resumed his role as the commercial director of the pharmaceuticals division at Ercros, following a brief hiatus from the company due to personal circumstances.

Óscar Méndez holds a bachelor's degree in chemical sciences from the Autonomous University of Madrid, as well as a PDD in business administration and management from the IESE Business School. Additionally, he has pursued master degrees in the management of the chemical and pharmaceutical industry and in occupational risk prevention.

He began his career in 2003 as a R&D project management technician at the Fundación del conocimiento; subsequently, he provided his services at the Saint Gobain company as a quality, environmental and safety management systems technician; at Novotec he was a quality systems and industrial processes consultant; and at Aener Energía he was deputy to the general director and responsible for commercial and quality; finally, in 2007, he joined Ercros as head of sales of the pharmaceuticals division, a position he held until his appointment as commercial director of said division in 2022.
