A group of students from the Administrative Management training cycle of the Escuelas Pías School in Jaca, accompanied by three teachers, visited the Ercros factory in Sabiñánigo.

The visit included a presentation adapted to the academic profile of the students about the company, its manufacturing centers and activities, and especially its management systems. Later, the visitors toured the sodium chlorate and chloro-caustic soda production plants, which allowed them to learn about the industrial processes of the factory.

The group valued positively the experience for its usefulness in their training and showed their interest in repeating it another year.

With this activity, Ercros reinforces its commitment to education and its support to the schools in the local community.
