

Students of IES San Alberto Magno visit the Ercros factory in Sabiñánigo

A group of first-year high school students from the San Alberto Magno de Sabiñánigo high school have visited the Ercros factory in this town. These visits are highly valued by both students and teachers, since in the first year of baccalaureate students must start thinking about the studies they are going to pursue in the future and the industrial sector offers a wide variety of jobs.

The visit began with a previous explanation by the factory's technical staff about the operation of Ercros, its industrial activity and the production processes of the Sabiñánigo factory. The group then toured the sodium chlorate and chlorine soda plants and the hydrogen electrolyser.
